

Music – BBC Documentary

25 Y7 pupils were filmed on Friday 13th November by BBC 2, for a television series called “A Band for Britain” which will chronicle the decline in Brass Band music in the UK and our attempts to reinvigorate it by working with the Dinnington Colliery Band.

Sue Perkins, winner of the BBC’s hit series Maestro, is the presenter of “A Band for Britain.” She has been working with the Dinnington Colliery Band and brought them into the school to perform and to talk to the children about Brass Band music and its importance to British culture.
